TRIBUTES PAID TO BALLET DANCER AFTER BIKE CRASH

PERFORMER DESCRIBED AS 'A MAN OF GREAT WARMTH AND CHARM'

By PAUL LYNCH
Reporter
paul.lynych@jpress.co.uk

Tributes have been paid by the sister of a professional dancer from Northampton after he died in a motorbike accident.

Jonathan Ollivier, 38, died in the crash in central London on Sunday morning just hours before he was due to perform in Matthew Bourne's The Car Man at Sadler's Wells Theatre.

Scotland Yard confirmed the details of the accident. Mr Ollivier was involved in a collision with a black Mercedes saloon shortly after 11am.

Police, paramedics and an air ambulance crew attended but they were unable to save his life.

A man has been arrested on suspicion of dangerous driving and was being questioned by police.

Writing on Facebook, Mr Ollivier's sister, Rachel, said:

"To all my beautiful little bro friends, it is with a heavy heart that we have to tell you that Jon tragically died today. We love him and will miss him massively xx".

Mr Ollivier was due to play the role of Luca in the final show of the Matthew Bourne play.

In a statement, Mr Bourne, artistic director of New Adventures, issued a tribute on behalf of the company.

He said: "On Sunday we lost our 'Swan' and our 'Car Man' – Jonathan Ollivier was one of the most charismatic and powerful dancers of his generation: An intensely masculine presence tempered with tenderness and vulnerability."

"A man of great warmth and charm, Jonny was a true gent, loved and respected by his colleagues and adored by audiences who were mesmerised by his memorable performances on stage as well as his friendly and genuine personality."

Wallaby in the forest

BY CALLUM JONES
Reporter
callum.jones@jpress.co.uk

A rare white kangaroo-like animal, believed to be a wallaby, which was spotted hopping around a field near Northampton probably escaped from a private collection or a zoo, a mammal expert has said.

Caroline Phillips was with her friend Florence in a field near Salcey Forest on Friday when she saw what is believed to be a Bennett's wallaby, known for their distinctive white fur.

Ms Phillips, who comes from Australia, said: "The field is a hill of more than 16 acres, the "white thing" was at the very furthest point. I walked towards it for ages and had still thought it was probably a bit of plastic stuck on the hedge. Florence was adamant it was a kangaroo, I was sure it wasn't. I come from Australia where most Australians don't see kangaroos in the wild so it was not likely to happen in England, was it? Especially a rare white one."

"We headed back with our

The kangaroo-like animal which was spotted near Salcey Forest phones and the "white thing" was still in the same place – surely a bit of plastic. We walked towards it and when we got close enough we could see it was an animal of some sort. I still didn't think I was going to find a kangaroo."

Michael Wells, who records sightings of wallabies for The Mammal Society, said it was unusual to see a Bennett's wallaby and he was only aware of one previous sighting in the area. He said: "The only other white wallaby that has been seen was at Stoke Mandeville Station. Most of the wallabies in this country were brought over by private collectors or placed in zoos. Sometimes the private collectors find they cannot look after them any more and release them"

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Warning on danger of ticks to your pet

BY DAMIAN LUCAS

Deputy web editor
damien.lucas@jpress.co.uk

Blood sucking ticks are feeding earlier in the year and for longer, putting the health of Northamptonshire's dogs and their owners at risk, according to vets.

Tick bites can transmit serious infections, such as Lyme disease, a serious and debilitating illness that can cause long-term health problems in dogs and people.

Now, vets across Northamptonshire are teaming up with the Heath & Reach Vet Surgery by joining naturalist and TV presenter Chris Packham and the University of Bristol in the Big Tick Project.

The new nationwide initiative runs from spring through to autumn, tracking the rise of the tick population in the UK and finding out how many carry disease.

Tick bites can transmit serious infections such as Lyme disease

Dog owners can take their pets to Spinney Lodge Veterinary Hospital on Kettering Road in Northampton, Wooton Fields Vet Surgery at Tudor Court Northampton, Easipetcare on Mariners Way in Kettering, New Lodge Veterinary Centre on Red Lodge Road in Oundle, Beech House Veterinary Surgery on Watling Street in Towcester or Croft Veterinary Centre on Banbury Road in Brackley for a tick check and advice about innovations in effective tick control.

Any ticks found on dogs will be collected and sent to Bristol University laboratories to help advance the knowledge of tick-borne disease, benefiting both veterinary and human medicine.

Export banning order runs out

Three leading archaeology experts have written to a national newspaper to condemn the sale of Sekhemka as the order banning the export of the statue ran out. Professor Stephen Quirke and Dr Richard Bussmann from UCL Institute of Archaeology and Dr Alice Stevenson from UCL Petrie Museum of Egyptian Archaeology wrote a letter to the Guardian saying the statue should never have been sold and called for changes in legislation to prevent it happening again. The statue was sold by Northampton Borough Council at auction in July last year for more than £16 million. The money was split between the council and Lord Northampton. The borough says it will be using its portion to fund an expansion of Northampton's Museum and Art Gallery. The statue of the Egyptian official Sekhemka, which dates from about 2,400 BC, was sold to an overseas buyer, but the Chronicle & Echo reported in March this year that the culture minister Ed Vaizey had put a temporary export ban on the statue so that it could not be moved abroad. The order ran out last week and would only have been extended if another buyer had expressed serious intention to raise the recommended £15,732,600 (plus VAT) to buy the statue. It is understood no such intention has been made. Writing in the Guardian,

The statue of Sekhemka which was controversially sold the archaeology experts claimed archival research "may yet reveal that the sale contravenes international law". The letter called for a change in legislation to stop local authorities acting in the same way again. "Can the public, museums and media act on these issues? Or must we prepare for further losses from our public collections?" they said. The Save Sekhemka Group issued a last-minute plea for Prime Minister David Cameron to intervene and stop the statue going abroad. Writing on its blog, the group said: "It is still not too late for you to turn Britain's shame in being party to such an unethical sale into pride"

The new bar in Bridge Street, Northampton

Bar opened by Phipps

BY CALLUM JONES
Reporter
callum.jones@jpress.co.uk

A new bar has opened at a historic brewery in Northampton.

Phipps NBC has opened the new venture in the Albion Brewery in Bridge Street with a VIP party.

Described as "the town's newest, oldest brewery tap" (because the site was first used for making beer in the 1880s), it features eight hand pumps of cask ale, Phipps, Hoggleys and a revolving guest ale, lagers, craft ales, wines and spirits, including Phipps Kingswell Gin.

Food will be served from midday and there will be gigs and events on Sunday and Monday nights later in the year.

A spokesman for Phipps NBC said: "We will be keeping the space true to its origins as a working brewhouse where you can drink ale with the smallest carbon footprint in the county but the biggest taste and the longest history."

Phipps NBC's brewery shop will also re-open once work has finished, selling Phipps and Hoggleys bottled beers.

C5 has an invisible physio

The C5 Tourer was a very pleasant surprise and quite the most comfortable car I've driven for ages.

Utterly practical as well, with a vast boot and clever suspension that keeps the car level however much you pile in the back. Well equipped for the price too and looking solidly bolted together too.

Part of the comfort comes, in the top version tested here, from a tension system that echoes Citroëns from decades ago and replaces conventional steel springs with gas filled spheres.

A switch will engage 'sport' mode on the suspension but the difference was difficult to detect, with the edge on comfort - just - in the sportier setting.

Add the £975 leather pack and as well as cowhide everywhere you'll find a driver's seat that not only adjusts electrically in all directions (ditto for the front passenger) but also adds a gentle massage function. Having an invisible physio at work on your lower back is a newfound pleasure.

Then there's the sheer practicality of the Tourer. It is several inches longer than its saloon stablemate, with all the extra length devoted to added boot space. The tailgate can be raised electrically at the plip of a key fob button.

Every C5 has a 2.0 litre diesel engine, with a choice of two outputs (115 or 160 horsepower), and prices of the Tourer estate start at £24,150 and top out at £29,275 for a version with automatic transmission.

Standard kit on Exclusive Techo Pack cars include sat-nav, cruise control, big 18 inch alloy wheels and part leather upholstery.

O'Toole savouring fresh start

Transfer-listed midfielder making the most of the new season

FOOTBALL

Cobblers midfielder John-Joe O'Toole is hoping his winning goal in Cobblers' 1-0 victory over Bristol Rovers on Saturday is a sign of things to come as he seeks a fresh start at the club.

O'Toole signed for Town on a three-year deal last summer after scoring 15 goals from midfield in an impressive 2013/14 campaign with Rovers, however he struggled to replicate that form following the move to Sixfields as he managed just two goals in 42 appearances last term.

But the 26-year-old is now keen to put those troubles behind him – which resulted in him being placed on the transfer list by manager Chris Wilder in May – and make the most of a perfect start to the new campaign, though he admits consistency is the key.

O'Toole said: "I'd like to think it's a fresh start. Last season was a poor season for me but that's gone now and you have to look forward.

"I just want to stay in the team, play well and get a few more goals and I'll be happy.

"I couldn't see this coming at the end of last season. I think everyone knows it wasn't a great season for me personally but that's gone now and I have to look to the future.

"Saturday is only one game – it's a good start but I need to do it every game and get my scoring boots on because I've always felt I've had a goal in me.

"I'm feeling a lot better about myself now. The injuries seem to be behind me but we've got such a good squad that you need to be at it every game otherwise someone will come in and take your place.

"I wasn't really expecting to start on Saturday but hopefully the manager's seen something there. I felt I did OK in pre-season but this is the business end of it and I've got to keep doing well otherwise someone will take my place."

Wilder was quick to praise O'Toole following Saturday's win and hopes it will signal the start of a better campaign for the former Watford man.

The Cobblers manager said: "He scored a lot of goals down here and that was the reason myself and other managers were looking at him.

"I felt it was a brave move to put him in. We could easily have left him out but we backed him to go and do well against his former club.

"He got a lot of stick but the bottom line is he's walking away with the winning goal."

Saint Wood can't wait to captain England

SAINTS star Tom Wood will captain England in their World Cup warm-up match against France at Twickenham on Saturday.

Wood, who led England in their two-Test tour of Argentina in 2013, will win his 37th cap as England start a series of three games leading into the World Cup.

The flanker will pack down alongside Saints teammate Calum Clark, who will win his first cap.

Prop Kieran Brookes, who moved to Northampton from Newcastle this summer, also starts, while Alex Corbisiero is on the bench.

Wood is relishing the chance to lead England on home soil for the first time.

And he said: "I'm so proud to have been given the honour," he said. "It's something you can only dream of as a kid.

"I've just got to rely on what's got me here in the first place. I always try to lead by example, through my energy, commitment and bravery. It's also important not to say too much – be as concise as possible and also allow the other leaders in the team to speak.

"First and foremost though, you've got to be worth your place in the team and that means leading through your endeavour and your commitment."

While the game marks the beginning of the hosts' war-up campaign, Wood says there will be no distractions from what is an important game in itself.

"We've all been working hard behind the scenes for a good six or seven weeks now and a good performance endorses all that we've been doing," he said.

"It's a big game – forget about the tournament. It's a Test against France in front of 80,000 people and we want to win the game on its own merit. We don't pull on an England shirt and give anything other than everything."

The flanker is also looking forward to pulling on the Red Rose alongside club-mate Clark, a man he says will bring plenty to the field.

"He's comfortable in this environment – he's been around the training camps before – and he's had to wait a long time for his opportunity," Wood added. "He's an emotional, passionate man and that's a huge asset. He's come a long way and now plays with a lot of composure, too.

"I'm really looking forward to playing alongside him and hope it goes well for him."

Meanwhile, Saints trio Ken Pisi, George Pisi and Kahn Fotuali'i have been named in Samoa's 31-man squad for the Rugby World Cup.

Former Saint Fa'atoina Autagavaia is also in, but full-back Ahsee Tualamisses out, despite impressing in the recent run to the Pacific Nations Cup final, where Samoa lost 39-29 to Fiji.
